[Explanation of Entries in Foregoing Tables]

- (i) Explanation of "Property Characteristics"
  - "Property Characteristics" provides a description based on the entries in the real estate appraisal reports for the real estates that were prepared by Morii Appraisal & Investment Consulting Inc.
- (ii) Explanation of "Property Outline"
  - In principle, the entries are based on that as of May 31, 2011.
  - "Residence indication" for the location provides the residence indication. For real estate in an area without a residence indication, the location of the land as indicated in the registry is provided.
  - "Type of ownership" provides the kind of rights held or to be held by the trustee for the real estate.
  - "Site area" for the land provides the area of the land as indicated in the registry.
  - "Use district" for the land provides the use district classification given in Article 8-1-1 of the City Planning Law.
  - "FAR" for the land provides the ratio of the total floor area of the building to the site area as stipulated in Article 52 of the Building Standards Law and is the numerical figure determined by city planning in accordance with the use district, etc.
  - "Building coverage ratio" for the land provides the ratio of the building area of the building to the site area as stipulated in Article 53 of the Building Standards Law and is the numerical figure determined by city planning in accordance with the use district, etc.
  - "Total floor area," "Structure / Floors," "Use" and "Construction completion date" for the building are each pursuant to the entries indicated in the registry for the real estate.
  - "Use" for the building provides the primary use out of the types indicated in the registry for the real estate.
  - "Leasable floor area" provides the floor area of the portion of the real estate to be acquired by ADR that is leasable as of the date of this document based on information received from the current titleholder.
  - "Leasable units" provides the number of units of the real estate that is leasable as of the date of this document based on information received from the current titleholder.
  - "Breakdown of residential unit type" lists the types of residential units based on the following classification. Store, office and other uses aside from residential units are shown under "Other."

S: Single type Primarily residential units designed for single-person households
 C: Compact type Primarily residential units designed for single-person households and small-family households (2 to 3 people)

F: Family type Primarily residential units designed for family households

L: Large type Primarily residential units designed for foreigners

Studio 1R, 1K or studio 1 bedroom 1DK or 1LDK

2 bedroom 2DK, 2LDK, 1LDK+S, etc. 3 bedroom 3DK, 3LDK, 2LDK+S, etc.

4 bedroom 4DK, 4LDK, 3LDK+S, etc., or those with 5 or more rooms that are in ongoing use for living, working, gathering, leisure or other similar purposes

Dormitory type Residential units without bathrooms or facilities for installing washing machines within the units, but are covered for by making them available for use as shared facilities within the property (communal bathing, laundry, etc. spaces)

- "Units" provides the leasable units of the real estate in trust categorized by the number of units of each type of residential unit that is leasable as of the date of this document based on information received from the current titleholder.
- "Current titleholder" names the titleholder of the real estates in trust as of the date of this document. "Previous titleholder" names the party that transferred the real estate (assets to be acquired) to the current titleholder.
- "Master lessee" names the lessee that, as of the date of this document, is scheduled to enter into a master lease agreement with the titleholder of the real estate.
- "Master lease type" indicates "Pass-through" when the master lease agreement states that the master lessee is to pay the same amount of rent as the rent due to be paid to the master lessee by end-tenants and "Guaranteed payment" when the master lease agreement states that the master lessee is to pay a guaranteed amount of rent, as of the date of this document. However, "Master lease type" indicates "Guaranteed payment" even if a master lease agreement is a pass-through lease in the case that a sublessee to which the master lessee subleases all units is to pay a guaranteed amount of rent to the master lessee.

- "Property manager" names the property manager that, as of the date of this document, is scheduled to be delegated to conduct property management services for the respective real estates. Where property management services are re-delegated, the property manager re-delegated to conduct property management services is shown.
